Why do you want to go for corrective surgery? It is needed only in severe cases.

Please do some excercises to correct your squint over a period of time. They are slow treatment as compared to surgery but remember surgery be it minor or major always have some side effects.

The best excercise- Take a pen. Now place a pen about 6 inches away from eyes holding pen in your hand.

See the tip of pen. Try to make a double image of pen and move pen closely in front your eyes stressing eyes to keep making 2 images.

This will strenghten your eye rotating muslces over a period of time thus squint will be reduced/totally gone.

Squint Correction Surgery is not that big a deal. It is being done every day - so please don't get worked up about it. In fact you can get admitted get the surgery done and leave for home that very day - You can visit India for this surgery and also tour the beautiful country. Visit this link to get more information. <http://lasiksurgeryindia.wordpress.com/2007/03/31/squint-correction-surgery-in-india-go-get-it/>

Good luck

Excercise is best...visual computer based excercises over long period of time will help you.

No use to go under knife when it is not needed..thats my view..
